Restaurant Ban On Seeing Eyes News to Leader

The national director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind didn't know until this week that B.C. has a health law barring blind persons' guide dogs from being taken into restaurants.

If he had known, Capt. M. C. Robinson of Vancouver said, he would have done something about it long ago.

But he may not have to do anything about it now, because Victoria city council's health and welfare committee decided yesterday to ask the provincial government to amend the Health Act regulation which bars all live poultry and animale from eating and drinking places.

A blind tourist was not allowed to enter a restaurant in Victoria last summer with his guide dog on a leash, and subsequently the Victoria-Esquimalt health board asked city council to make bylaw changes to allow the "pilot dogs" in restaurants.

But the city solicitor told council that changing a city bylaw wouldn't overcome the provincial regulation.

"It's been customary in B.C. for blind persons to take their guide dogs into hotels, dining rooms, trains and airplanes," Capt. Robinson said. "I have never known of any restriction."

The city's action, he said, was "very nice—I appreciate their thoughtfulness."

Two men were injured in Greater Victoria traffic accidents early Friday.

Alfons Heck, 410 Wilson, suffered a possible knee fracture and cuts to the knee and neck when a car in which he was a passenger struck a telephone pole at 3.55 a.m. at Cadboro Bay and Cranmore.

He was treated and admitted at Royal Jubilee Hospital, where his condition was reported "fairly good."

Driver of the car, police said, was April Holmes of 3912-A Helen.

Alexander P. Stewart, 51, of 1177 Esquimalt, suffered a cut over the right eye at 7.50 a.m. yesterday in an accident involving two cars and a building, half a block from city police headquarters.

Police said a car driven by Lillian K. Smith, 2632 Mt. Stephen, collided with Stewart's car, which then hit the front of 1633 Government.

Mr. Stewart was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital and released.

Let's talk REAL ESTATE

By Jack Mears

I have just returned from a two weeks' holiday during which I had a lot of time to think of things in general. As usual I thought quite a lot about the profession of which I am proud to be a member and of the service which we render to the general public. I came to the conclusion that it is second to none.

For a start, in no other profession, or for that matter trade, is the public guaranteed 100% satisfaction or no fee. The Real Estate Agent's fee is strictly dependent on the sale of your property. No sale—no fee. Further, not only does the Agent give you the benefit of his time, experience and knowledge on a no-result, no-fee basis, he even goes to the extent of spending his own money in the promotion of your property which he may or may not sell, according to his knowledge of the market. Time, money and experience are as near as your telephone.

The normal fee for selling residential property is 5%, of the sale price. For this fee the Agent in the promotion of the property carefully screens all prospects and first of all judges their ability to purchase. The property is then shown to these prospects by a qualified salesman who knows what the buyer is looking for and points these things out. If the prospect is willing and able to buy, a proper legal contract is drawn up and presented to the owner for his signature. It may be that mortgages have to be found, and the Agent arranges these without any cost to the owner. Virtually all the owners have to do in the whole transaction is to keep the home neat and tidy for showing by the Agent. Is there any service that is more complete than this?

In order to help those who are thinking of selling their homes we have had two small pamphlets prepared which we are only too pleased to pass on to those who are interested. If you are thinking of selling now or in the near future give us a call. We know we can help you.

Fighters Go Light To Forest Fires

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new type of fibreglass firefighting equipment, developed by Manitoba forestry officials, will go into operation this summer.

The pump, designed to be carried on the forester's back, weighs eight pounds, four pounds less than the old metal pump, and carries 4½ gallons of water.

Provincial officials say the back-pack pump is much stronger than metal pumps and will not rust.

Strengthening of Runway Keeps 200 Men on Job

Some 200 men are employed on strengthening of the main runway at Patricia Bay airport now that the job is in full swing.

Airport manager A. J. Knowland said he expects the $921,779 runway job to be completed by early August.

It is part of a federal government program to raise Patricia Bay to the status of an international airport. Defence Minister George Pearkes said on a recent visit he is hopeful construction of a new terminal building will also start this summer.

DEEP GRAVEL

The strengthening entails laying gravel to a depth of about 15 inches over the present main runway and capping this with another four or five inches of black-topping. Grading will be needed to bring other runways up to this level.

About 175,000 tons of gravel will be used on the project. It will come from a newly-opened pit near Mill Bay, transported to the airport site by barge.

A spokesman for the contracting firm of Pacific Perini Ltd. said most of the 200 workers are local men. Extensive drainage work has already been completed.
